Eisenhower Believes U.S. Can Beat Inflation

His economic report, third and last of the annual White House messages to Congress, carried a 42-point program of hurried legislation. Most of the requests were familiar, but Eisenhower said they now are "urgent."

He gave no hint that the administration is considering tax cuts for public works or deliberate deficits, and avoided even the words "recession" or "depression."

"The latest challenge of International Communism will require a further increase in the economic claims of national security, which are already heavy," Eisenhower said.

"If we follow suitable private and public policies, this challenge can be met without distorting our economy, or destroying the freedoms that we cherish."

Was It Made In Canada? You Can Cut Jobless

It would be interesting to know how many Kelowna women help the Canadian employment situation when they make their purchases each week by striving to make sure that at least the greatest part of their money is spent on goods or clothing manufactured in Canada.

Hugh Crombie, vice-president of the Produced-in-Canada Association, recently made an interesting appeal to Canadian women, in which he says in part:

"I sometimes wonder just how many of us, who consider ourselves to be good Canadians, actually go to the trouble, when making a purchase, whether it be for ourselves, or even as a gift for a friend, of finding out if the article we propose buying has been made in Canada or is it a foreign made import.

"Our country is today being flooded with foreign-made products. You can walk down the main street of any Canadian city or town and see in the shop windows merchandise marked 'imported.' Unfortunately, there still persists in the minds of too many people the idea that if goods are imported they are inherently better than anything produced in Canada. Thinking Canadians know that this is not true."

We quite agree with Mr. Crombie when he says that every dollar spent for something not made in Canada is taking employment away from some Canadian worker, possibly a friend or even a member of your own family.

Sell Goods And Services

Business and industry will spend about $600-million this year to promote sales of their goods and services.

Nearly $227-million of this sum will be invested in national advertising campaigns in major media, and the remainder in retail and other advertising, premiums and displays. This year's ad spending represents an increase of approximately 6%—on a par with 1957's expected gain.

Forecast is based on an annual survey of manufacturers, advertising agencies and media conducted by Marketing, the Canadian advertising and sales weekly.

It is reported that major firms this year are "cautiously optimistic" and expect sales to increase 6%. Their big problem is to overcome consumer resistance resulting from higher prices (a 2% rise is predicted) and tightened credit.

There will be plenty of new products, new packages and improvements to catch the buyer's eye, but advertisers do not have the advantage of greatly expanded ad budgets, as in some previous years. In 1955 and 1956, national advertising expenditure rose by 13.5% and 15% respectively.

However, a bright spot for 1958's dollar-watching advertisers is that less of their extra money will be siphoned off by higher media rates. Costs of space and time are not likely to increase greatly, and this year's modest increase in ad investment will provide some measure of added impact.

"Emphasis this year," says Marketing, "will be on advertising skill. Advertisers will seek more creative ideas, a better knowledge of markets, and greater understanding of the psychological factors behind consumer buying decisions."

MARTIN TOO POPULAR

Politically - Knowing Tories Welcome Pearson As Leader

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA (CP)—Some politically-knowing Progressive Conservatives are applauding the choice of Lester B. Pearson as new leader of the Liberal party. Not that they are particularly interested in the fortunes of the Liberal party as such, but because they suggest the choice of the former Liberal foreign minister is all to the good for the Conservatives.

In brief, their figuring is that Mr. Pearson—Nobel Prize, bow tie and all—still isn't in the same vote-catching league as Paul Martin, whom he defeated for the party leadership at the national Liberal convention Thursday night.

SHREWD CAMPAIGNER
They could be wrong, but there is no doubt but what Paul is a redoubtable campaigner with one of the shrewdest political minds in the country, apart from a persuasive flow of oratory on the speaking platform.

A Liberal qualified to speak from experience—former agriculture minister Gardiner—describes Mr. Martin as the best campaigner in Canada. Mr. Gardiner himself rated that title some years back.

He may or may not be right about Mr. Martin, against such challengers for the title as Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan and Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec.

But certainly Mr. Martin is in the major league when it's a question of winning friends and influencing people among the electorate.

CARD-INDEX SYSTEM
Besides the type of political memory that remembers all handshakes, Mr. Martin has a keen appreciation of the value of a card-index system for keeping touch with the voting populace.

In his southwestern Ontario riding of Essex East, birthday, anniversary and other cards flow out to constituents in a steady stream. He has consistently come up with hefty majorities there and is regarded as unbeatable.

OTTAWA REPORT

New National Tory Policy

(Specially written for The Kelowna Daily Courier)

OTTAWA—Canada's first prime minister, Sir John A. Macdonald, gained the trust and support of voters with his "National Policy."

That common-sense program of "Canada for Canadians" is the earliest political factor in the young nation which children learn in their history lessons.

Last year another Conservative leader outlined "A New National Policy."

"Unity requires it. Freedom demands it. Vision will ensure it," declared John Diefenbaker, in the opening speech of his election campaign in Toronto on April 25.

This new national program was outlined in Mr. Diefenbaker's campaign literature. The last item on the last page contains this promise:
"A Progressive Conservative Government will consider expanding the present old age pension system by the addition of an insurance system similar to that in the United States. The United States plan of old age and survivors insurance provides average monthly benefits on retirement of $76.00 for single workers, $128 for aged married couples without dependent children, and $88 for aged widows. The average contribution per person is $27.08 (per year), not much more than the average contribution by Canadians of $22.70 for the Old Age Pension. A Conservative Government will consider implementing such a plan 'in addition to' the present pension system. The United States plan is worthy of the highest commendation."

PROMISE TO BE MET

With his announcement in Parliament last week that Professor Gordon Huxon, of the University of Western Ontario, had been commissioned to report on the applicability of the U.S. plan to Canada, Prime Minister John Diefenbaker has begun to implement yet another of his election promises.

"Window dressing," yelled ex-Fisheries Minister Jimmy Sinclair, last week that Professor Huxon's brain which prompted those words? Or was it a source grape tongue of a prominent Liberal?
For the fact is, bitter as it must

Another vote-snatching advantage Mr. Martin would have over Mr. Pearson, say the Conservative philosophers, is that in the minds of many voters he is associated with Santa Claus through family allowances, old-age pensions and other benefits that go through the department he headed for years.

"In the back encephalons of Saskatchewan," asks one observer, "what's that Nobel Prize alongside those monthly cheques when it comes to polling day?"

to be a man of Sinclair's ability and acumen, that the United States Social Security Act was passed by Congress on August 14, 1935. So it was spread out in full detail for the new Central Government to study when it won office at the general election exactly two months later. The U.S. plan was then in operation, setting an example which made Canadian oldsters green with envy. But in the ensuing 21 years and eight months, the Liberals made no attempt to copy it, and give Canadians the benefit of such wonderful low-cost insurance and premium protection. The best they could do, after a lapse of no less than sixteen and a half years, was to produce the costly and much less effective Old Age Pension of $40 a month, in January, 1952.

It's really too bad that Jimmy Sinclair and his colleagues did not think of dressing up their bare windows—too bad for every Canadian man of 65, and for every widow and fatherless child, who all through these past years missed what Americans in their condition were enjoying.

GEORGE HEES—SPONSOR
This U.S.-style social security program is no sudden Conservative rabbit-out-of-the-hat. It has been part of their proposal for many years. I can remember long ago, sitting in his small office on the fifth floor of the Parliament Building, hearing the then back-bench opposition member discussing the merits of that U.S. program.

It covers almost everyone who works fairly regularly, except self-employed doctors, George Hees said. It pays pensions at almost double our scale, but starting five years younger for men and eight years younger for women. It pays funeral costs, and survivors' benefits of up to $200 a month. It pays disability benefits. Perhaps needing some modifications, I think it is certainly applicable in Canada, he continued.

In speeches in caucus, and on the hustings, George Hees advocated a close look at this program. George Hees became a member of the Cabinet, as Minister of Transport; he then began urging it on his colleagues, who are now 100 per cent behind him.

Driver's Choice: 16-Foot Ditch Or Moving Train

PERRY, Ark. (AP)—The driver of a school bus loaded with 35 boy and girl basketball players made a split-second choice at a rail crossing and sent his vehicle hurtling down a 16-foot embankment rather than hit a speeding train.

Five youngsters and a coach suffered minor injuries. Bus driver Charlie Upton told police his lights picked out freight cars moving across the highway while his vehicle was still some distance from the railway crossing.

He tried to stop but his brakes failed.

Tories Provide Grits With 1st Class Attack

By HAROLD MORRISON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Progressive Conservative government appears to have provided the opposition with what the Liberals consider an attractive opening for political attack in the government's trade-diversion proposal.

At their leadership convention last week, Liberals and particularly their new leader Lester B. Pearson made government trade policies their favorite subject of attack.

No single proposal made by the Conservative government appears so difficult to achieve as that of diverting some $600,000,000 worth of Canada's imports from the United States to Britain.

Even with the dispatch of a Canadian trade mission to Britain last December and even with all the negotiations that have been going with that country since, there is no evidence that the Conservatives can achieve any success in obtaining one-half or one-quarter of the 15-per-cent diversion over the next few years.

EMBARRASMENTS

What made the situation particularly attractive to the Liberals in a political way was that the proposal caused embarrassments both in Canada and in Britain. And it came at a time when there was a critical rise in unemployment.

People's Mission Scene Of Rites

RUTLAND: People's Mission of Kelowna was the scene on December 28, of double-ring rites which united in marriage Viola Friesen, younger daughter of Mrs. S. Friesen, of Rutland, and the late Mr. Henry B. Friesen, and Mr. Alphonse Hanet, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hanet, also of Rutland. Rev. R. M. Bourke officiated at the mid-afternoon ceremony.

Given away in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Abe Friesen of Saskatoon, the bride chose a gown of white tulle over satin complemented by a fitted lace jacket fashioned with lily-point sleeves. Her chapel length veil was held in place by a pleated net tiara studded with sequins. A cascade of deep red roses and pink carnations made up the bride's bouquet.

Attending the bride was maid-of-honor, Miss Bunny Hanet, sister of the groom, who wore a ballerina-length gown of sea-green nylon, and Miss Lyla Oliver, as bridesmaid, similarly gowned in pink lace, tulle, and satin. Both carried cascading bouquets of ivory mums, centred with pink carnations, and both wore matching headresses and white gloves.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

"Nice" Girl Is Too Playful; Friends Like Her Better Sober

Dear Mary Haworth: We have a friend, call her Madge (which is not her name), who is basically a terrific girl. She is attractive, very capable, good-hearted; would do anything for anyone.

But on social occasions, whether at large or small parties, and regardless of whether she knows the guests well, or is meeting them for the first time, she gets rowdy when she starts drinking.

She becomes so uninhibited, after a few drinks, that she says and does things so unbecomingly that all are embarrassed — and especially the hostess.

Madge has been dropped by numerous friends after such an experience. And we know how they feel, but because she is basically so good, we have to drop her as they have.

Is there anything you might suggest, in regard to handling the problem? Thank you. E. F. LOVELY QUALITIES, BUT NO DISCIPLINE?

Dear E. F.: I once heard a wise gentleman say of a ne'er-do-well nephew (then in middle age): "The boy has lovely qualities; but no character." This might be a capsule reading of Madge's make-up also. You emphasize the claim that she is basically good. What you mean, probably, is that she has the makings of engaging personality if she would behave herself well; or if she had herself in control.

But the fact is (according to your story) that she behaves very badly; very selfishly; without regard for the feelings of others, or the rights of others, in party situations. Which means that she hasn't much character in the positive sense — since good character is the sum of educated habit and systematic effort aimed at maintaining considerate conduct.

It appears that Madge's compulsive reaction to a captive audience (as at parties) is to insult the accepted standard of decency; to mock and defy it; to set herself apart from and against it. Why? This is a sick-minded attitude, not to be imposed simply to drinking too much.

Rather the few quick drinks are but a curtain raiser for the shocker performance she puts on. They are partly camouflage, partly a contrived excuse for misbehaving; and partly a help in pulling it off — a way of borrowing courage, dulling the edge of awareness, before throwing stink bombs into the audience.

All things considered, I think my sympathies veer towards those who drop Madge, to get rid of the discourtesy and embarrassment she visits on friends and their guests. Ralph Waldo Emerson, sage of the western world, says friendship is made for rough usage. When real it doesn't wear kid gloves. True friendship is, or should be, a valued source of instructive reproof as needed.

FRIENDS SHOULD CRACK DOWN
Madge needs to be jolted into a stock-taking, and into lasting conformity to good manners. It's no favor to her to condone her boorishness — any more than you would permit a "friend" to fetch rotten garbage into your parlor and hurl it about, when you're having company, time and again.

If Madge were put on notice by loyal friends that they are fed up with her rowdiness, and won't be asking her to parties again if she gives any further offense, she might turn over a new leaf in a hurry. And if she needs help in doing this, she probably should apply to psychiatry for it. There is a lot of neurotic material implicit in the ugly behavior she unleashes in drink. M.H.

Smartly - Designed Maternity Aid In "Difficult" Period

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON (Reuters) — Gay, youthful, high fashion clothes to brighten the months of waiting for baby to arrive are a must for the modern businesswoman mother-to-be.

Time was when maternity wear was drab, dreary and matronly. The expectant mother, already depressed by the temporary loss of her figure, had to suffer the further ordeal of appearing in glamorous clothes.

Today, all that is changed. Cleverly - designed maternity clothes make it possible for the young mother-to-be to be as smart and as appropriately dressed for the occasion as she could wish.

PRINCESS CLIENT
A pioneer in designing these morale-building clothes is Mrs. Maisie Landon Silver, herself the mother of a 12-year-old son and a five-year-old daughter.

Among well-known clients she numbers Princess Grace of Monaco, who bought several models from her winter collection when she was here before Christmas.

Outstanding in her current spring and summer collection is a group of smartly - cut, coordinated separates that can build up into a complete daytime wardrobe for town, country or beach.

BEACH OUTFIT
One series of these separates, in royal blue sail cloth with white saddle stitching, has a pop-over shirt and a bush jacket which can be teamed with matching skirt, jeans or shorts. Skirts, shorts and jeans all have a 15-inch waist expansion.

There is even a beach outfit comprising shorts and sleeveless pop-over shirt tied with small bows on the shoulder, in a print featuring beach scenes in shades of brown, green and blue.

For more formal occasions, Mrs. Silver's collection includes a smart walking out suit in grey moiré. Many yards of fabric are used to make the loose, buttoned jacket which is closely pleated on to a high, round yoke finished with an overlapping round collar. Three-quarter sleeves and a straight, easy but slim-looking skirt put this outfit in the front rank of fashion.

FOR EVENING WEAR
Popular, too, among the models in this collection are the long-line button through dresses which are the coming season's successors to the popular winter "sack" and a "bracer" suit in charcoal grey teamed with a brown paisley blouse.

For the social occasion, and evening wear, Mrs. Silver has designed a number of attractive, two-piece models in fine cotton or rayon fabrics combining close-fitting, hip-length, pleated, pop-over blouses and straight or ballerina skirts. Many of these come in plain pastel shades and cool-looking summery prints.

One unusual blouse in pleated blue cotton has a white stripe down the knife edge of each pleat. Another, which is gathered across the front and has pleated, hip-level pockets set on a slant, is in an original "go anywhere" print featuring white stars on a blue, red or green ground.

During 1957, $30,000 were spent on seven research projects in this province and it is hoped to increase this support substantially in 1958, Mr. Ker stated.

He continued, "There is no doubt that the solution to this country's major health problem lies in research. I feel sure that B.C. citizens will hesitate to lend financial and voluntary support to the fight against a disease which has crippled over 1,200,000 Canadians, and causes more death annually in Canada than all other causes of death combined."

Vice-Chairman Of Heart Fund Prominent Victoria Businessman

Mr. R. H. B. Ker, prominent Victoria businessman, will again be vice-chairman of the 1958 Canadian Heart Fund in British Columbia. Mr. H. P. Weatherhill, president of the B.C. Heart Foundation, announced here.

This is the second appointment for the 1958 Heart Fund Drive in B.C. Mr. Charles Bentall of Vancouver having been named provincial chairman last week. The drive will be carried on from February 1 through 28, concurrently with the campaign throughout Canada. It will reach its peak in "Heart Week," commencing on February 23, which is "Heart Sunday" throughout North America.

Mr. Ker is president of Ker and Stephenson Limited in Victoria and Brackman-Ker Milling Company Limited, in addition to holding directorship in many other business concerns. He has given much time to community affairs and has been interested in the development of the B.C. Heart Foundation since its inception in 1955.

The funds raised in B.C. through the 1958 Canadian Heart

Fund Drive will be used by the B.C. Heart Foundation to support its heart research program at the University of British Columbia and various hospitals throughout the province, which have cardiac investigative units. As funds become available, more research support will be provided and the development of additional research units and facilities throughout the province will be encouraged. The Foundation's other programs of professional and public education, and community service will also be expanded as funds permit.

During 1957, $30,000 were spent on seven research projects in this province and it is hoped to increase this support substantially in 1958, Mr. Ker stated.

He continued, "There is no doubt that the solution to this country's major health problem lies in research. I feel sure that B.C. citizens will hesitate to lend financial and voluntary support to the fight against a disease which has crippled over 1,200,000 Canadians, and causes more death annually in Canada than all other causes of death combined."

Special Polio Clinics Arranged Pre-Schoolers To Get Shots

During the month of January, the South Okanagan Health Unit is convening special clinics for the administration of polio vaccine to the pre-school children in the age group of 1-5 years. These clinics have been arranged in order to administer the third dose to over 2,000 children who are in need of this booster injection.

Clinics will be held at the Community Health Centre in Kelowna, on January 29 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. for those with surnames beginning with the letters A to M. The same hours will apply to January 30 for those whose surnames begin with letters N to Z. No appointment is necessary.

Appointments are necessary for the clinic being held January 23 at the Rutland High School from 9:30 to 12 noon; January 20 at the Winfield School from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.; January 21, the George Pringle High School, Westbank, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., and January 24 at the Lakeview Heights School from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., appointments are not required.

Pre-schoolers will be sent appointments to attend the regular child health clinic for their third doses in the Oyama, Okanagan Centre, Mission Creek, Okanagan Mission, East and South Kelowna, Glenmore and Okanagan Academy districts. If further information is required regarding the above clinics, kindly contact the Community Health Centre at 2704.

Rubber Scrub Bucket Designed Clatter Of Tools Eliminated

By ELEANOR ROSS

All the tools that are needed to keep a house clean and tidy seem to make a lot of noise. However, designers of household equipment are now trying to change all this by making use of new compositions and materials wherever possible.

For instance, a new scrub bucket, made of a rubber compound, hardly makes a sound. It can be set down on hard surfaces without making a clatter and it won't mar tiles, linoleum or wood floors. Of course, it is very light in weight and therefore easy to handle.

This heavy-duty bucket is handy for carrying clothes to the washing machine, to hold damp articles to be ironed or to take freshly-laundered clothes to the line outdoors.

VARIETY OF COLORS
Furthermore, it comes in a variety of pretty, cheerful colors that won't be harmed by any of the standard household cleaning agents. Even used preventatively or for disinfecting, it's prepared in it. All that is necessary to keep it clean is to wash it thoroughly with hot suds and rinses after using chemicals.

Other good features are the embossed gauge on the inside, to measure quantities up to as much as ten quarts, and the pour spout for easy pouring. Built-in recesses on the bottom let the housewife get a firm grip on the bucket when it is tilted for emptying.

We mention all these specifications to indicate how much thought is being given to improving equipment used in the home, equipment that, until now, has shown little improvement through the years.

CUT TO SIZE
Another item which helps to reduce clatter in the home is the rubber cushioning for shelves that comes by the yard. Lightweight and washable, it can be cut with the scissors to fit any surface.

It can be used to good advantage in so many rooms. In the kitchen, for instance, it makes a fine liner for shelves and cabinets. Think how much clatter can be eliminated when everything you set down rests quietly in place!

This padding is also a boon when used on worktops and it makes a neat floor-liner for broom closets.

Use it on the nursery floor to catch drips from baby's bathinette and in the dining room under baby's high chair to catch spilled liquids or foods.

Line the shelves of the medicine cabinet to protect bottles and jars.

Another good idea is to line a big box with this rubber cushioning and set it at the back door or basement entrance as a catch-all for wet rubbers, boots, umbrellas.

In keeping with the increasing use of color in the home, the cushioning comes in such cheerful shades as red, yellow, pink and turquoise — all so easy to keep bright and cheerful. Just go over them with a sudsy cloth and the bright shades will gleam like new.

SCANDINAVIAN INFLUENCE

By TRACY ADRIAN
This costume was photographed in Sweden, where one of our most prominent sports designers went to get some of his most interesting ideas. The black cotton-knit pullover with its turtle neck and three-quarter sleeves is spiced by a bright yoke of white, red and green. It has the new long look and is worn with narrow, black, tapered, treader-type pants.

Social Credit Meetings Are Held

The first meeting of 1958 for the O. K. Social Credit Group was held in the Women's Institute Hall recently, with the president Mrs. J. Kinnear in the chair.

There was a good attendance, and after general business was concluded, the evening ended in a sing-song with Mrs. Harris at the piano. Mr. Melloy won the prize. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Maloney and her helpers.

The next regular meeting will be held February 11. A well-attended card party was also held last Friday under the sponsorship of Mrs. Kinnear, who took over for Mrs. Pearce who was unable to attend due to an accident.

LACE LOVELY

By VERA WINSTON

ALENCON lace makes a pretty dress for late day and evening. Cut shirtwaist style the frock is collarless, styled at the neck with ecru satin to match the lace. The same satin is used to make the tailored belt and the tiny buttons that close the softly snug bodice. The skirt is domed slightly, the slip beneath helping to keep the shape. Gathers are concentrated at the side and back. Here is a good buy, a dress that will do its wearer proud north or south at almost any event.

STELLAR GOAL TENDER

Stellar work by the Packers' net-minder, Dave Gathrum, has held the club up considerably during their four-game loss-streak, but his forwards have not been reaping heavily enough to make the difference. Above, Gathrum comes out of his net to stop a rolling puck, while defence man Orx Lavell, no. 5, stops Vernon Canadians' Jim Moro. Old Maestro George Agar lays out in front waiting for a pass. The Canucks now trail the second-place Packers by five points.

Packers Slide From Lead In "Blue" Weekend

By GEORGE INGLIS
(Courier Sports Editor)

It was one of those tough weekends for Jack O'Reilly. His Packers took a home-and-home beating from the Vernon Canadians, whose mentor had predicted his club would be in second place by the end of the month.

If wily George Agar can lead his crew into second spot, he will be fulfilling the predictions of your humble columnist, who said he would finish next in order to the Packers.

The Packers? Be not alarmed, they have shown they can come through in the pinches before, and they will just have to do it again. With a one-point deficit on the records now, they will have to climb back over the hump, and they could easily do it this week, when they meet Penticton once, and Kamloops twice.

There is little doubt that these last three weeks of play are going to be hectic, as all clubs jockey for the play-off berths, and the line-up is becoming more evident by the day.

When Agar predicts he will be in second place by the end of the month, he is not really sticking his neck out very far. He feels his club are "up" now, and are going to win their share of the remaining games. He also figures Penticton to win the odd one, leaving Kelowna and Kamloops to battle it out with each other.

The result, in all likelihood, is that either Kamloops or Kelowna will retire to third spot, while the Canucks will slide into second. That's the way George sees it, and that's the way we called it some time ago. The only difference was that we called the Packers to be first.

It's not so much a prediction as a conviction.

TOUGH CLUB

The boys in blue were a formidable club when they faced the Packers on Friday and Saturday.

Somewhere along the league trail they seem to have shed the dissension and trivialities that have been dogging their footsteps, and they are in high gear. When they get into top gear, with any kind of breaks, they are a tough club to beat.

Friday night they had the breaks with them. Kelowna missed a bundle of chances, even after the game went into overtime, and Vernon made most of their chances pay off, as well as playing a whale of a hockey game that left the fans with a good feeling toward everyone, save the referee—Gordon Hamilton.

While we have given up talking about officials for the nonce, we feel compelled to pass along a few terse comments voiced by fans. "We should call him 'Weak-eyes' Yokum," was one fan's summary.

"For cryin' out loud, loan him some glasses, any old kind," another fan pleaded. "This is a referee?" was the question put by another less original fan. While we do not agree in toto, we agree in principle.

Saturday night's game was a little tougher, from the Packers' standpoint, and they turned in a poorer game defensively, as well as scoring fewer goals. These two highly important ingredients to winning hockey games were just enough, combined with Kamloops' win over Penticton, to slide them out of the top spot they looked so well in.

But they'll be back, says coach O'Reilly.

FRONTIER TROUBLES

Up north, where the bull moose roam, and where a fellow named Ken McKenzie has a hockey club called the Kamloops Chiefs, there has been a spot of unrest.

Seems that playing-coach Bob Dawes, who was reported to have asked to be relieved of his coaching duties, never really asked for anything other than a temporary release from said duties. Whether Canny Ken needs a hearing aid, or whether he was guilty of wishful thinking, he immediately informed the news mediums that the likeable brunette with the wizard stick was through as coach.

The press, radio and TV then staged a poll to determine who they would rather see as coach, and the vote went in favor of Grant Warwick by a good majority. Now, while McKenzie did not endorse the poll, all he did do was smile benignly, and say it wasn't official.

When Dawes returned from the prairies, he found an extremely untenable position, with a whole lot of bull being spread, and not the moose variety either. He didn't say anything until a TV sportscaster asked him something about his resigning, and he cast the thunderbolt, saying he hadn't. The embarrassing part of it all was that Kenny, the canny and Grant Warwick were on the same program.

And so the fun began. Canny Ken has been rumored to be casting aspersions in wholesale lots, and to be unhappy with the players, some of whom said they wouldn't play for Grant Warwick; the fans, who can have the hockey club for payment of half of his last year's losses; the press, radio and TV, who pulled off an "unauthorized poll," and Dawes, who had no pity on an old man's frailties.

Meanwhile, the Chiefs are in top spot by one slim point, and the Canucks are climbing with remorseless strides. It's going to be a neck-and-neck affair with the Chiefs and their old-time rivals, the Packers, for top spot.

And it may depend on the political situation on the frontier.

Packers Dumped To Second Spot

The Vernon Canadians dumped the Kelowna Packers into second place Saturday night, handing them a 5-1 beating.

The win, fourth straight for the Canucks, goes a long way towards filling the promise made by coach George Agar that his blue-clad crew will be in second place by the end of the month. They are only five points behind the Packers now.

It was the fourth straight loss for the slumping Packers, who have dropped right down from a seven-point lead in the Now Year, to trail the Chiefs by one point now.

Vernon Pucksters Beat Local Jukes

The Vernon juveniles beat the Kelowna crew by a convincing, 4-1 score here on Thursday, with a pair of goals by Norris.

Strothers scored the first Vernon goal, and added two assists. Norris and Yawney added markers in the first frame, making the score 3-0 for the northern club.

Jim Gordon came through with the Kelowna club's only marker in the second frame, but one minute later Norris nullified it with his second of the night.

There were few penalties in the comparatively clean, fast hockey game, but Vernon showed better conditioning than the Kelowna club.

Vernon's markers were picked up by Merv Bidoski, Tom Stecyk, Sherm Blair, Odie Lowe and George Agar. Moe Young scored the Packers' lone counter.

Both teams scored in the first frame, with Trentini passing to Bidoski for the opener, and Young notching the tying marker at 8:15 on a play with Kaiser, originated by Pat Coburn, Hal Gordon dropping the hot shot.

In the second period, the boys in blue really went to town, rapping in four unanswered goals. Stecyk, Lowe, Blair and Agar were the northern marksmen.

In the final frame, the Packers came out strong and tried to crack the Vernon defence, but they hung on and protected their lead through 20 minutes of thrilling hockey.

Coach Jack O'Reilly is contemplating some line shuffles to try to stop the slump his club is in, hoping to break the loss-streak here tomorrow night against the Vees.

Oilers, Teddies Win Ex. Games

Hard-driving Bill Martino, showing better form each time out, paved the way to the B.A. Oilers' 69-47 win over Brewster, Wash. in the Kelowna high school gym Saturday night, following Meikle Teddie Bears close, 33-32.

The Oilers, working out of an offensive defence, started "drilling for points" at the opening whistle as Dean hit a jump-shot from the corner. From there on, superb ball control of the backboards by Martino and Radies kept the Oilers rolling until they closed the gap.

A 12-point scoring effort by Brewster's Bob Rigen in the second half brought them back into contention, closing the gap to 39-35, before Bud Englesby, working behind the centre-screen, started the local club off again with two overhanded jump shots.

Brewster faded from this point and coach Hank Tostenson's boys kept at least a 14-point gap that stretched to a 22-point win.

The Oilers showed ball handling and shooting never before seen on the local floor, and show promise of going all the way in the province this year, if they keep up the clip.

The Teddie Bears had to be a come-back club in their preliminary match, suffering a 10-point deficit at the three-quarter mark, and coming back in championship style to pluck the game out of the Trail girls' grasp, 33-32.

Fans were brought to their feet time after time in the thrilling match, and commented on the excellent ball handling and shooting of both clubs throughout the basket-ball game.

As anticipated, the Trail girls went into a tight zone defence, keeping the Teddies at bay as their long shots failed to count for many points.

Holding a 13-10 lead at half-time, Trail was content to stay with the zone defence, but two long shots by Bannison, a break-through by Vansantan and two converted gift shots gave the Teddies a 20-19 lead going into the final quarter.

A fast break-through by Trail started a surge that saw them eight points in the lead as the minutes ticked away, and the Teddies climbed back until Shirley Berard potted the winner at 50 seconds to go.

Trail's Haley missed a free-throw in the crucial dying seconds, and Bannison took the ball off the back board and froze it with dribbling skill, until the final whistle.

Oilers, Teddies Win Ex. Games

Hard-driving Bill Martino, showing better form each time out, paved the way to the B.A. Oilers' 69-47 win over Brewster, Wash. in the Kelowna high school gym Saturday night, following Meikle Teddie Bears close, 33-32.

The Oilers, working out of an offensive defence, started "drilling for points" at the opening whistle as Dean hit a jump-shot from the corner. From there on, superb ball control of the backboards by Martino and Radies kept the Oilers rolling until they closed the gap.

A 12-point scoring effort by Brewster's Bob Rigen in the second half brought them back into contention, closing the gap to 39-35, before Bud Englesby, working behind the centre-screen, started the local club off again with two overhanded jump shots.

Brewster faded from this point and coach Hank Tostenson's boys kept at least a 14-point gap that stretched to a 22-point win.

The Oilers showed ball handling and shooting never before seen on the local floor, and show promise of going all the way in the province this year, if they keep up the clip.

The Teddie Bears had to be a come-back club in their preliminary match, suffering a 10-point deficit at the three-quarter mark, and coming back in championship style to pluck the game out of the Trail girls' grasp, 33-32.

Fans were brought to their feet time after time in the thrilling match, and commented on the excellent ball handling and shooting of both clubs throughout the basket-ball game.

As anticipated, the Trail girls went into a tight zone defence, keeping the Teddies at bay as their long shots failed to count for many points.

Holding a 13-10 lead at half-time, Trail was content to stay with the zone defence, but two long shots by Bannison, a break-through by Vansantan and two converted gift shots gave the Teddies a 20-19 lead going into the final quarter.

A fast break-through by Trail started a surge that saw them eight points in the lead as the minutes ticked away, and the Teddies climbed back until Shirley Berard potted the winner at 50 seconds to go.

Trail's Haley missed a free-throw in the crucial dying seconds, and Bannison took the ball off the back board and froze it with dribbling skill, until the final whistle.

Bidoski for the opener, and Young notching the tying marker at 8:15 on a play with Kaiser, originated by Pat Coburn, Hal Gordon dropping the hot shot.

In the second period, the boys in blue really went to town, rapping in four unanswered goals. Stecyk, Lowe, Blair and Agar were the northern marksmen.

In the final frame, the Packers came out strong and tried to crack the Vernon defence, but they hung on and protected their lead through 20 minutes of thrilling hockey.

Coach Jack O'Reilly is contemplating some line shuffles to try to stop the slump his club is in, hoping to break the loss-streak here tomorrow night against the Vees.

SUMMARY
First period
1. Vernon, Bidoski (Trentini) 2:03
2. Kelowna, Young (Kaiser, Coburn) 8:15

Thinks More Movie Houses Will Close Up

VANCOUVER (CP) — Predictions that more movie houses will be shuttered in the next two years and "will stay shuttered unless pictures get better," were made by Fletcher Markle, Hollywood TV producer, in an interview.

The former Vancouver radio producer is here with his wife, Miss Mercedes McCambridge, and other Canadian stars.

Mr. Markle originated Studio One for radio and produced its plays for TV in 1952-53.

"Hollywood is suffering from a terrible myopia," he said. "You can see this on any theatre screen these days."

"There will be at least two years of 'great unpleasantness' for the movie industry," the old guard is fighting a losing battle because the town is full of rebels and now even, the biggest personalities and studio hold-outs are switching to TV.

THIS THIEF GETS SURPRISE PARCEL

VANCOUVER (CP) — It's a good thing the thief who stole a suitcase from the car of anthropologist Dr. Gordon Wilson doesn't know how to use its contents.

Dr. Wilson, who spent two years solving ritual killings in Africa, said the suitcase contained witchcraft paraphernalia and lecture material.

He said the contents are worth more than $1,000.

The anthropologist said he depends on the material, including 200 color slides, 150 large prints and three movie films, for his lectures.

DESIGNER FORESEES $50 TRANS-ATLANTIC TRIPS IN GIANT AIRLINER

A dirigible body on either side of a giant wing is the design of future trans-oceanic liners, according to aviation expert

Frank Tinsley. He believes the design would allow for hundreds of passengers each trip at a cost of around $50 for a trans-

Atlantic flight. His design shows observation areas in forward sections of the wing and on the sides of the dirigibles.

He says the ship could fly at around 100 mph and would be relatively cheap to build and operate.

PLANNED AT PENTICTON

Scientist Enthusiastic About Radio Telescope

VICTORIA (CP)—Construction of one of the world's largest radio telescopes near Penticton, B.C. about 200 miles northeast of here, will help tremendously in the exploration of space.

This is the view of Dr. R. M. Pettie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here, who said that 24-hour viewing in all weathers should be possible for B.C. astronomers when the project is complete.

His staff here "certainly will be collaborating" with the Penticton group when the new telescope gets into operation, Dr. Pettie added.

LONG PREPARATION

The new telescope was ordered after the staff at the Dominion observatory in Ottawa had worked for three years on the plans for it and for two accompanying buildings.

Dr. Pettie said the Penticton site is as free as possible from heavy snowfall, ice, high winds and radio waves from power lines and electrical equipment.

The 84-foot telescope will pick up radio waves from heavenly bodies and transmit them to the control building where observations of electrical currents will give scientists accurate data concerning composition.

Scientists from the observatory here will probably travel to the Penticton site to learn more of radio astronomy techniques.

The parabolic telescope should be in operation within a year. Numerous gas clouds, stars and other structures, invisible through an optical telescope, will be "seen" for the first time by Canadian astronomers with the new instrument.

Radio astronomy penetrates atmospheric dust, which has previously limited optical observations. The new techniques increase by 10 times the distance man can see into space. Poor weather or bright sunlight present no hazard to the radio astronomers.

The new instrument also will be valuable in following earth satellites by the addition of radar tracking devices.

Ice Fishing Proves Big Business At Little Northern Alberta Town

WABAMUN, Alta. (CP) — Ice fishing is big business and great fun for a couple of days each winter in this village 45 miles west of Edmonton.

This year about 1,000 fishermen sold 160,000 whitefish to crowds of commercial fish buyers and curious onlookers from cities and towns all over Alberta.

The whitefish, silvery two-pounders that make tasty eating, swim in astonishing numbers under the ice of 35-mile-long Lake Wabamun.

The government opened the season for 32 hours this year, from dawn on Jan. 7 to dusk on Jan. 8, with an over-all limit of 300,000 pounds. Individual catch limit was 300 pounds. All fishermen needed was a $5 licence, a net, and an implement to chop a hole in the ice.

RECORD CROWD
Fine, mild weather drew record crowds to the annual affair, with the lake a patchwork of cars, trucks and sleighs gathered about fishing holes.

The fishermen, mostly farmers, take as light a view of the season as do the well-dressed city folks who buy their catch.

Huge, grizzled Ab Faulkner, whose father hooked cod off Nova Scotia's shores, described whitefishing as a profitable sport as he hauled his net from the black, frigid waters of a two-foot hole in the ice.

His partner, Richard Ripper, reviewed the day's work as he plopped several fish into a customers bucket.

"We've netted about 200 fish and we're selling them about 30 cents a piece," he said. "We haven't caught as many as last year, but we're making more money."

In 1956, a record 650,000 pounds were caught but below-zero temperatures kept the public away.

TELLS OF ADDICTION

Barbara Ann Burns, 19, daughter of the late hillbilly humorist "Bazooka" Bob Burns, is shown after she was booked on narcotics charges in Hollywood. She is pointing to needle marks on her hand. Miss Burns said she was hooked by a drug peddler who supplied her with free heroin until she became an addict, then kept draining her of $500 monthly.

and most of the fish went to commercial buyers at from seven to 10 cents a pound. Prices are much higher in private sales, depending on the bargaining powers of the fishermen.

ICE NOT THICK
Near the Faulkner fishing hole, about 10 cars and four trucks were parked. About 50 people, buyers and sellers, haggled, took pictures, stared at the fish being taken fresh from the net, or counted catches.

"The ice is only seven inches thick this year," Richard explained, "and a bit crackly if too many cars gather round."

Not far from the crowd was a sign saying "thin ice."

On shore, the fun starts as commercial buyers and fishermen haggle on Main Street. Fast, friendly selling is the rule, alternating tallies of their catches.

MILCH AMERICANS

New Brunswick Yule Tree Racket Exposed

BATHURST, N.B. (CP) — The weekly Northern Light says hundreds of New Brunswick residents make a Christmas racket of tying pleading notes to Christmas trees shipped to the United States.

The newspaper says "big-hearted Americans dug into their pockets to the tune of several thousands of dollars in 1957 to send Christmas presents to many who are better off than their 'neighborly benefactors.'"

Thousands of parcels are said to have poured into customs offices in this province and more are reported coming.

The Northern Light says some families started as early as July to prepare notes for use on tree shipments in the fall.

HIGHLY ORGANIZED
"These were not scrawled on torn dirty pieces of paper like children write on their own. This was a highly organized business."

"The short letters were placed in plastic bags to prevent the addresses from becoming illegible from moisture and were attached with strong bright cord."

The paper says "greedy grown-ups" took up the idea after a few deserving children tied pathetic notes to Christmas trees in the early days of the industry.

One authoritative source said whole families would travel to the shipping yards by taxi carrying buckets of notes and would slip around placing them inside the bales where they would not be noticed until they were cut apart for sale in the United States.

"One family is known to have placed 2,300 notes on trees being shipped from this county. According to the source, the members are comfortably well off and have no need of asking for any assistance to celebrate the birth of Christ."

PAY HIGH DUTIES
The Northern Light says some recipients of gifts travelled by though arguments sometimes become heated. Occasionally someone auctions off a big northern pike. One 15-pounder sold this year for $1.65.

Tall tales of other fish days at Wabamun echo in the two restaurants and the lone beer parlor, crowded to the doors. Parking space is limited on the icy, unpaved streets.

"We don't have crowds this big on a summer weekend," said a waitress.

Getting around the 28,000-acre lake to estimate the catch is a haphazard job for Mervyn Heron, district fisheries inspector. He and a team of nine fish and game officers patrol the lake while fishing is in progress and try to count catches before they are sold. Fishermen, however, are usually co-operative in keeping tallies of their catches.

taxi from distant villages to pick up their parcels at the local customs office. Many had to pay high duties to get the gifts.

One family is reported to have received 100 pounds of clothing, another three or four bags of gifts, more than they could use themselves.

"It can only be assumed the parents are selling the gifts."

Bird Watchers Baffled Over Huge Influx

LONDON (Reuters) — Baffled bird watchers are seeking an answer to why birds are invading the British Isles in record numbers.

This winter, flocks of European birds have flown to England and Ireland to settle. The thousands of amateur ornithologists in this bird-happy country are particularly interested in the huge influx of birds of the tit family.

The mischievous blue tit has become much more active this winter. Hundreds of cases have been recorded of the little bird tearing wall paper, pecking window putty and removing milk bottle caps.

The British Trust for Ornithology has asked bird-lovers for help in solving the migration mystery. Information is being collected and classified by ornithologists at Southampton University and in London.

A spokesman for the trust said the bird movement also is being closely studied by Continental naturalists. One theory is that Europe's bird population multiplied greatly after the mild winter last year. Favorable breeding conditions in Britain last May and June also may have added to their number.

AT WINFIELD

Farmers Name Duggan Again

WINFIELD — The annual meeting of the Farmer's Institute was held in the club room of the Memorial Hall. There were 15 members present.

Election of officers for 1958 resulted as follows: president, Tom Duggan (re-elected); vice-president, Ralph Berry; secretary-treasurer, Jack Green; directors, Nels Arnold, Pete Rodall and Les Chato.

Mr. Duggan introduced N. Matlick, building inspector, who talked to the meeting on the new local services act, which was passed last March and which takes improvements (fire protection, etc.) out of the Water Rights Branch and puts it under the Department of Municipal Affairs.

The president thanked Mr. Matlick for his interesting talk. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

Close Check Kept On 8,000 People Who Handle Atom, Ex-Ray Equipment

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) - Nearly 8,000 Canadians working with atomic and x-ray equipment are checked every two weeks to ensure that they do not absorb harmful quantities of radiation.

The checking is done by the radiation services branch of the federal health department's occupational health division and the medical division of Atomic Energy of Canada Limited.

The radiation services branch keeps its eye on about 5,500 persons, including 250 in Canadian universities, 1,500 in industry, 2,000 in hospitals and 500 doctors. Each worker is charged 15 cents every two weeks for this service.

Atomic Energy of Canada bears the cost of checking the 2,300 persons employed at the Crown-owned atomic project at Chalk River, Ont., some 135 miles northwest of Ottawa.

CHEST BADGES
The quantity of radiation is measured by means of a special film enclosed in a badge usually worn at waist or chest level. The film is worn for two weeks and then sent to a radiation services laboratory in Ottawa where it is examined to determine the amount of radiation absorbed by the worker in that period.

The check is compulsory for employees of Atomic Energy of Canada and for persons working with isotopes supplied by the Crown company and by other sources. It is voluntary for persons working with x-ray equipment.

In some cases it may be necessary for a worker to be removed from radiation fields for varying periods. This step would be taken if it was discovered there was a danger a worker might exceed the annual maximum dosage of five roentgens.

Dr. F. D. Sowby, 30, clinical consultant for the radiation services branch, said in an interview that this "doesn't happen very often." There had been no incidents of this type for more than a year.

Dr. Sowby added that there have been no deaths in Canada attributed to over-exposure from radiation.

GENERAL SERVICE
The radiation services branch supplies and checks all film worn by persons not employed by Atomic Energy of Canada. To make the operation possible an elaborate card index system and special measuring equipment was set up in a Sparks Street office building occupied by the health department.

"We feel this service will prevent such workers from receiving more than the maximum radiation exposure, which is a level of radiation a worker can receive without harmful effects resulting. Our experience to date is that the vast majority of radiation workers come well below the recommended upper limits of exposure," said Dr. Sowby.

There is no compulsion on x-ray workers to use the service but large numbers are checked every two weeks. There was a growing interest in the service by hospitals and other institutions using x-ray equipment.

Chinese Student Makes Money By Painting For Education

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) - When 18-year-old Yen Chin arrived here from Hong Kong two years ago, he wanted to continue his painting career and attend art college. Now his new paintings have given him enough money to pay for his education.

Calendars brought his date with college. To get some money he went straight to a bank, selling nine paintings to the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

They'll appear each year on the bank's calendars. The first one is on the 1958 issue. The painting of the Chinese god of longevity brought such a demand for the calendars that they were all gone in a few days.

Yen Chin is a student at a local public school where he is struggling with English and painting under art teacher Miss Mayden Davis.

SARAH ARRESTED

Sheriff's deputies are, restraining Sarah Churchill, actress daughter of Sir Winston Churchill, after her arrest on a charge of drunkenness in Los Angeles. Miss Churchill was taken into custody when she tangled with officers who went to her Malibu Beach home following a complaint from the telephone company that Miss Churchill was using unladylike language over its lines. This photo was made in the Los Angeles Hall of Justice, where Miss Churchill was lodged in the women's section of the county jail.

GOLDEN OWL CALLING

By BRIAN MILLER

The holidays are finally over, and KHS students are falling back into the regular pattern of scholastic life. The clubs and athletic activities have resumed also, and here are some of the things that high school students have been doing this week.

The Athletic Council is selling school caps to students in the forms of beanie and sailor hats. They are in the school colors, black and gold. Jerry Jantz, who is selling the caps, says that nearly 40 caps have been sold. He is hoping that this will bring up the school spirit to even greater heights. These can be worn at any time, and especially at school games. The beanie is selling at a nominal cost.

UN CLUB MEETS

The United Nations Club held its first meeting of the New Year Tuesday. An excellent film on Indochina, by the National Film Board, was shown. The movie showed the ruins of ancient Indochina, the recent Indochinese war, and some of the problems of Indochina today. At the next UN club meeting a discussion will be held on the eastern European situation.

NEED BILLET

Billets are needed for the 30 boys and the nine girls of the basketball and cheerleading teams from Notre Dame College in Nelson. Notre Dame will be playing the KHS Owls in Kelowna Jan. 27. Every year the college takes a tour through the valley, playing different high school teams. If you have an extra place in your home for just one billet, contact Mr. Peter Bulatovich, Kelowna High physical education teacher.

SPORTS SPHERE

In intra-mural sport: on Jan. 14, House "E" girls narrowly missed victory by losing to House "A" girls 12-10, in what was an action-packed game of basketball. On Jan. 15, House "A" boys defeated House "B" boys. On Jan. 18, Thursday, House "F" girls played House "D" girls, and won 7-2.

A league game was played Thursday night between the KHS Owlettes and the girls basketball team of George Pringle High school. It was a better than average game, but as this was written, the final score was unknown.

TAKING PICTURES

School pictures are now being taken for the annual Grades 10 and 11 will have all their class pictures taken early next week. Teachers now are collecting the necessary dollars from their classes. Clubs and sports pictures will also be taken next week for posterity.

WORK PERIOD

A final short club note: The KHS Junior Red Cross held a work period on Wednesday for the making of a Red Cross album, to be possibly sent overseas. In the past, the JRC has received albums from Germany and Japan which were of more than ordinary interest.

has questionable scenes, the government enforces an 18-year age limit on the viewers.

One recent example was a film with French actress Martine Carol and actor Van Johnson called Action of the Tiger. In one scene, Miss Carol emerges from the water bare from the waist up. She reaches for her robe while carrying on an animated conversation with Johnson, hesitates with her robe over one shoulder because of the interesting conversation and finally dons her robe.

The picture may have been panned by critics, but it was a smash hit in Brazil.

Confederate Money Won't Buy Gasoline

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. Patricia Whitehurst pleaded guilty in police court here to using U.S. Confederate currency at a service station, four miles north of Prince George.

Mrs. Whitehurst, who lives 150 miles north of here on the Hart Highway, used a 94-year-old $100 bill in a transaction. The money is not legal tender.

She was remanded, for eight days.

Opening lead—six of diamonds. There are two fairly common situations that keep cropping up in the play of the dummy. One is the safety play where declarer takes the necessary measures to insure his contract.

The other is the recurring problem of whether it is better to finesse or play for the drop when declarer and dummy together have nine cards in a suit, missing Q-x-x of that suit. The general rule in this case is to cash A-K of the suit, but because it is mathematically a close proposition to begin with, declarer may frequently switch over to the fi-ness for good and sufficient reasons.

One of the most remarkable hands on record is this one where declarer can knock off two birds with one stone. Both the question of a safety play and the problem of a missing queen are involved at one and the same moment.

South found himself in six hearts on the sequence of bids shown. The contract was an excellent one. It would make if West had the king of spades, and it would make if a club loser could be avoided.

The diamond lead was ruffed and two rounds of trumps were taken. The king of clubs was cashed and another club led towards dummy, West playing the ten. To finesse or not to finesse was the question.

Declarer finessed, and made the contract. But it was not a lucky guess. The finesse absolutely guaranteed the contract, win or lose.

Suppose it had turned out East had the queen. What could he return? Only a spade or a diamond, since he could have no hearts or clubs.

If East played a spade into dummy's A-Q-J-6, declarer's other spade loser would go on dummy's fifth club.

Or, if East, instead returned a diamond, South would discard a spade, ruff in dummy, and claim the rest.

So the club finesse, with nine cards of the suit, turned out to be also a safety play.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

The Stars Say

FOR TOMORROW

Take a realistic view in all matters now. Some problems are possible but, whether they involve people or finances, you can solve them much more easily by curbing your emotions and thinking things out logically. Look for some good news in the P.M.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday your horoscope indicates that while this year may not be particularly stimulating where job and financial advancement are concerned, it would not be advisable to let down in your efforts since better aspects, early in 1953, will help you to carry out present undertakings.

Use this period to make plans for the future—especially where long-range security programs are concerned. In this connection, aspects indicating excellent headway will be very good in December.

Domestic and romantic affairs are under some restrictions. Be on guard against possible tension in these phases of your life especially during the last week of this month; also during early August and early November. The period between May and October will be generally good, but conservatism is recommended in all things. A child born on this day will be idealistic and benevolent, but inclined toward impulsiveness at times.

Local Rocketeers Delay Plans Until Ban Clarified

Ban on rockets placed by the federal explosives inspector for Eastern Canada may not affect the local experiments, but Kelowna's junior rocketeers are postponing further work until they can be sure.

Gary Lewis, 17, leader of the four boys who already have two successful tests to their credit, said the youths were trying to get a copy of the Explosives Act and see whether the fuel they are using is banned.

In previous stories about these experiments, first made public by the Daily Courier January 4 of this year, the fledgling scientists pointed out the many safeguards taken to prevent accident. All necessary precautions have been taken, they claimed. Their automatic firing equipment rules out any chance of the rocket fuel exploding prematurely, they maintain.

DEATH OF YOUTH

Federal explosives inspector W. B. Paton said in Vancouver there would be prosecutions if amateur rocket building and firing was not stopped immediately. Anyone caught under the Explosive Act can be fined up to $500 or given up to six months in prison, or both a fine and imprisonment, Mr. Paton said.

This action is believed to stem from the death of a 17-year-old Vancouver youth January 6, when he was overcome by fumes from a liquid rocket fuel with which he was experimenting.

Mr. Paton said he had no authority to ban rocket experiments unless propellant fuels used are compounded of materials banned under the act. Metallic powders such as aluminum and magnesium were explosives under the act, according to Mr. Paton.

LOCAL MIXTURE

Gasoline and some liquid fuels are not explosives in their natural states, he said, but can be banned as explosive compounds when mixed with other substances.

The Kelowna quartet have been using a mixture of zinc and sulphur, according to Gary Lewis.

He didn't know whether they were banned under the act and that is why he and the others want to get a copy of the Explosives Act and find out.

Gary said the youths had been in touch with the Kelowna detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and had been advised that no official word restraining the rocketeers had been received.

Meanwhile, missile-builders in Okanagan Mission are not discouraged by Mr. Paton's edict.

"It's been cancelled," said John Karpenko, who is in Grade 9, "until we receive further instructions." John meant the missile-launching that he and his friends were planning. Commenting on the missile plans of the Lewis group, John said:

"Our ideas and plans are almost the same as theirs." Earlier he said that they were hoping to send up a rocket with as many recording instruments as possible.

Wm. Quigley President Rutland's AOTS Club

RUTLAND—The Rutland A. O. T. S. Club held the annual meeting in the United Church basement hall Tuesday evening. Following an excellent supper served by the ladies of the Northern Circle, the election of officers for 1958 was held.

New president is William Quigley, who succeeds Bob Fitzpatrick, moving up from the post of vice-president. Vice-president for '58 will be Kelly Slater.

Treasurer Art Geen was re-elected for another term, while Art Taylor will take over the duties of secretary.

Amongst committee heads chosen were: program, Bob Fitzpatrick; works projects, Ed Taylor; fund raising projects, Elwyn Cross; membership, Art Gray.

The financial statement showed a balance of $112 in hand. Addressed MEETING

Ian Schierbeck, delegate to the Older Boys Parliament, held in Victoria last month, addressed the meeting, telling of his impression of the sessions, and of the people he met, and subjects discussed by the parliament. The sessions were held in the local legislative chambers and the full formalities of electing and installing the speaker were followed.

There was a "speech from the throne," read by Willard Ireland, provincial archivist, who took the part of the Lieutenant-Governor. Premier was Robert Royston, grandson of the late Mrs. Tilly Royston, formerly minister of education in the B.C. government.

Patrol Leader Schierbeck thanked the A.O.T.S. Club for their financial support toward his trip. Some 62 boys attended, coming from all parts of the province.

EARLY HISTORY
A. W. Gray, chairman of the centennial committee, and a resident of Rutland for 49 years, spoke on the history of the district, particularly the last 50 years, and told about the development of the various community organizations, the schools and the churches of Rutland, especially of the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations which had come together to form the United Church.

The Club also was shown an interesting collection of postage stamps of British Columbia and Vancouver Island the property of H. G. Walburn of the Beigo district. These illustrated the transition of the country from an island Crown Colony, to the Crown Colony of British Columbia, and then the absorption into the Dominion of Canada as a province.

The Club will hold the next meeting Tuesday February 11, with induction of the new officers.

the hope "that they will profit from this experience and said the way was open to both of them to come back and make a new start and live in peace.

Neither youth showed any emotion. They joked with each other and the attending RCMP constable as they were led from the courthouse, handcuffed to each other.

CHICKEN AND TATERS

The chicken-and-potato theft case ended in magistrate's court early Saturday afternoon, after more than a day and a half of testimony.

The magistrate used more than 30 minutes in summarizing his findings as he found Harold Nelson, Rutland, guilty of theft of chickens and potatoes, and fined him $100.

Date of trial of his brother, Arwin Nelson, on a charge of being in possession of stolen property, arising out of the same incident, has been set for January 27.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT

Committees Named For Centennial

RUTLAND—Rutland centennial committee held an important and well attended meeting in the High School on Friday evening.

Plans for the local centennial day, May 19th—were discussed, and committees set up to handle the various parts of the day's program.

The tentative outline of events included a giant parade, baseball and softball games, a track meet, square dancing in the evening, and a fireworks display to wind it all up. There will be a midway, and refreshment booths in operation.

To look after the arrangements the meeting set up the following committees: sports program,

Paul Bach, chairman; Rudy Runzer, Sue Koga and Kelly Slater; parade, Jack Morrison, chairman; Percy Wolfe, John Ivens Jr., and Larry Preston; refreshment booths, Mrs. George Cross, (Women's Institute), Mrs. W. Quigley (United Church W.F.), Mrs. H. Wostradowski (Catholic Women's League), Mrs. Drutts (S.D. Adventists), Mrs. R. G. Bury (Anglican Guild); square dancing, Percy Wolfe, Cass Lehman and Teen Town president; midway, Bert Hill and Board of Trade.

Mr. Whitaker said the announcement that the latest freight rate increase of 3.6 per cent has been suspended until March 1, "shows what can be done when an enlightened public opinion makes itself felt."

"The 3.6 per cent increase was the final straw and the prime minister has demonstrated a keen awareness of the impact of pyramiding freight rates on the Canadian economy," Mr. Whitaker said.

Noting that B.C. Tree Fruits transportation department has repeatedly laid the growers' transportation problems before the board of transport commissioners and now the board has agreed to come to Kelowna early in March for a special hearing, he said it was hoped that after this hearing the board will order railways to reduce their commodity rates covering shipments to B.C.'s most important market.

Several applications were received for the job of watchman at the park, but no decision made.

Reports were received from the historical committee chairman, Mrs. Ruffi, and a number of old time views and portraits were displayed. Efforts will be made to add to this collection, and have them on display in a booth at the park on centennial day.

It is hoped to use some of the best art illustrations in the book, let on Rutland history, to be published in the near future.

The matter was left to the executive to decide.

Jack Hall reported an increasing list of old timers being accumulated. He needed the addresses of some who had moved away. Invitations will be sent to them to attend the celebration.

MILL IN FAIR SHAPE

The committee appointed to investigate the state of repair of Brent's Mill reported that it was remarkably well preserved, and a new shingling job and a coat of preservative paint or stain would be all that would be needed.

The centennial committee has no funds to spare for this, but it is thought that some of the proceeds from the centennial day might be used for this purpose.

July 1st was set as the day for dedication of the memorial plaque to be placed on the mill.

Freight Parity For B.C. Fruit Said Justified

The B.C. fruit industry, an integral part of the Canadian agricultural economy, is entitled to federal subsidy on long-haul freight rates and will continue pressing at least for "freight rate parity with the rest of Canada."

So declared George Whitaker, member of the B. C. Tree Fruits executive, speaking at a meeting of Rutland Local, BCFGA.

Mr. Whitaker said the announcement that the latest freight rate increase of 3.6 per cent has been suspended until March 1, "shows what can be done when an enlightened public opinion makes itself felt."

money was voted for sending a shipment of used Christmas cards to a mission in Korea. Plans were made for a telephone whist party to be held Friday, Feb. 10.

Attending the BCFGA convention in Kelowna were S. J. Land, executive member and delegate C. Mansford and executive members of the local, M. Kawano, chairman; Alex Greene, secretary-treasurer.

A pleasant gathering was held in St. Margaret's parish hall following evening service, attended by many of the Centre Circle of the Guild as well as church members from Ellison and Oyama where a purse was presented by the people's warden, H. M. Bernau to Rev. R. W. S. Brown, late incumbent of the Woodside parish.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown and children are leaving for the parish of Cranbrook and Mr. Bernau expressed the regrets of the whole community at their leaving, as well as appreciation of his service here.

HALIFAX (CP) — Some 450 Hungarian refugees were scheduled to arrive here today aboard the liner Vulcania from Naples, Italy. Most will be settled in the Maritimes. About 175 of the immigrants have been living in Yugoslav refugee camps for about a year.
